

The Benefits of Advertising with The Institute of Navigation

www.ion.org

ION members are connected to highly-skilled professionals and a wealth of research materials. The ION's approximately 4,000 members come from many navigation-related fields and work in private industry, civilian and military government service, training academies, consulting firms, and academia. Although the ION is based in the United States, one-in-three of its members live and work outside of the United States.

In addition to a subscription to the ION's quarterly journal, NAVIGATION, members also receive the ION's quarterly newsletter. The ION Newsletter, edited by internationally known GNSS expert Glen Gibbons, is replete with all the latest news on GNSS, Galileo, GLONASS, and QZSS, as well as other interesting new and regular columns by ION historian Marvin May, and more.
